African Feeling Tour becomes one with nature.

Making our senses of our senses.....

On the 17th May 2011 we welcomed the African Feeling Tour group to Inkwenkwezi Private Game Reserve for their three night stay . This was the first tour of blind guest to visit the Reserve. The group was welcomed with sparkling wine and orange juice. A little something to calm the nerves.

With all the excitement the guests could not wait to experience the Reserve and all it has to offer. I would be excited ..wouldn't you?

The group was accompanied by our two rangers Byron and Rodger who hosted the guests during the duration of their stay .

First the group was to enjoy lunch at the Sunset Lapa

The group African Feeling Tours , was welcomed with sparkling wine and orange juice..

where they had a traditional African feast. After lunch the group had the opportunity to interact with the elephants as well as the cheetahs. It was amazing to see how the group appreciated the sessions with the wildlife.

The African Feeling Tours intended this tour to provide an opportunity for the blind to experience the joys of nature .

Media crew jumps aboard ...

On the 17th May 2011 we were joined by the a media crew for a complimentary tour of Inkwenkwezi Private Game Reserve. The day was filled with activities such as interaction with the cheetahs and walking with the elephants. It was a great opportunity for them and now they will be able to share their experience with people out there about Inkwenkwezi Private Game Reserve.

We would like to thank American Media for joining us and experiencing our patch of paradise,

Ikwezi the cheetah absorbing all the attention

The morning arose on the 18th May 2011 , day two of the group's visit . The day has juts begun and the group was ready for action.

The group was informed by Byron and Roger that they had a great day planned ahead for them. Such as interaction with the cheetahs , quad biking , horse back riding as well as a walk on the beach . It was inspirational to see the guest partaking in activities and made me realize how we take our sight each day for granted.

It's was so great to see the smiles on their faces when they could take part in activities they never thought they would ever do. One of the quest were quoted in saying", I have never felt a horse or ever rode a horse in my life" .

I am so glad that the group enjoyed their day . After the busy day the Group had , then it was off to a relaxing walk on the beach and to end the day with a relaxing dinner at the Sunset Lapa

Enjoy

I was released...

On the 18th May 2011 , we had a gentlemen from the local community asking for our assistance to release a porcupine into the wild .

What an experience . As soon as we opened the holding cage the porcupine ran like the wind. I'm sure he will have a pleasant time here at Inkwenkwezi Private Game Reserve.

An interesting fact that you might not have known, a porcupine is a rondent with a coat of sharp spines, or quills, that can defend or camouflage themselves from predators .

wezi .

Congratulations to all that got married this month at Inkwenkwezi Private Game reserve .

Mr and Mrs Gallow

Mr and Mrs Marais

Mr and Mrs Hermanus as well as Mr and Mrs Van Wyn- gaardt .

All the brides were beautiful and looked absolutely breath taking.

All of us here at Inkwenkwezi Private Game Reserve would like to thank you for letting us make your day memorable .

Day 3 of fun for the African Feeling Tour Group

On 19th May 2011 it was the third and final day of the African Feeling Tour Group at Inkwenkwezi

The African Feeling Group on Burger Night

Private Game Reserve. Activities planned for the day included canoeing as well as a bush walk through the Reserve. The most exciting part of the day was the Burger night which is held every week on the Reserve. The group could select from an a la carte menu as well as the burger special. With great excitement Wipka took the challenge of the Gigantic burger. Well as not to our surprise she only got half way. After a great evening at our Emthombeni restaurant the group finished their evening with a late night drive through the Reserve.

Wednesday night is burger night 18h00 till late

Congrats and well done ...

I survived the Inkwenkwezi Burger.

Well done to Marius Barnard on completion of one whole burger.

He was entitled to purchase one of our Inkwenkwezi Private Game Reserve golf shirts that says I survived the Inkwenkwezi Burger.

Bookings are essential for Wednesday evening .

Wedding and more....

The chapel where we say I do ...

Did you know that the Likkwaan is the longest lizard in africa after the Nile monitor

It was exciting to be hosting many weddings at Inkwenkwezi Private Game Reserve. The nature of any wedding is for it to run smoothly. On the 21st May 2011 we had the wedding ceremony of Samantha Fox and Werner Marais . It was an exciting one. With many of the wild joining in on the ceremony too ! While setting up the venue we had a likkwaan supervising our set up. Well done to Johann for spotting it .

Having a wedding at the reserve always includes the possibility of a visit from all of our many feathered friends or animals. We also had ostriches , warthogs , monkeys as well as Impala joining us while setting up the venues.

Congratulations to Mr and Mrs Marais on their wedding day .. With tears of joy rolling down her cheeks when he said "I do " made all of our hearts crumble . The weather was perfect . A wedding of greatness came out of it. Once again thank you to all that made the day special for Samantha .

Saying Goodbye to you...

The African feeling group upon departure

On 20 May 2011 it was a sad rising as we had to say the sad goodbyes to the African Feeling Group. What a great experience we had with the group . We would like to thank them for their visit to Inkwenkwezi Private Game Reserve.

Ikapa visits Inkwenkwezi

Ikapa group joining us today

Inkwenkwezi. The group of Australians were exceptionally excited to do cheetah interactions because they have never touched a cheetah before. Thank you Ikapa for joining us on Inkwenkwezi .

Ladies friendship circle

On 24 May 2011 we had an excited group of ladies visiting us. The Ladies Friendships Circle joined us early this morning and was excited to experience the activities. The ladies first joined us for an inspirational talk done by our Director Graham Stanton. After the talk the ladies joined Graham with the cheetah interaction . The ladies were nervous at first but soon they were at ease .

After the interaction the ladies joined us for a cup of tea and apple crumble .Yum yum .. After the morning snack the ladies were taken down for an Elephant interaction with our Ranger Rodger . For most of the ladies it was the first time they were having any interaction with the wild.

The Adventure Province (ECPTA)

On 24 May 2011 The Adventure Province joined us at Inkwenkwezi Private Game Reserve. With great ambition the group was quite thrilled to join us on an elephant interaction . What a great way to have a staff meeting and get to know one another during an elephant interaction.

Elephant interaction :
